WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 17, 1868. When the Courier, from which we think we certainly had a right to expect better things, talks of the Democrat's having "wallowed in the Journal's embraces," it speaks without knowledge. We never indorsel, we never thought of indorsing, those radical measures of the Lincoln Administration which the Democrat indorsed, and which it thought were not as strong as they ought to be. We suppose was written here, and elsewhere, in the Federal Union, during the terrible years of the rebellion. Probably it should read a little more be fore it writes so much.

The Courier talks indignantly about our having "urged on the armies of the Government to the suppression of the rebellion." This, of course, means that the armies of the Government should not have suppressed the rebellion. It means that the rebellion should have been permitted to succeed. It means that so cession should have been recognized and ai lowed. It means that the Union ought to hav been shattered without the slightest effort to preserve lt. It means that division, with all its terrible consequences, ought to have been received. We must say, with all our regard for the Courier, which its present tone towards us we much regret to say, tends to lessen, we did not expect from it such sentiments under existing circumstances. When it calls us "a part ner in sin," because we went for the mainten since of the Union, we must confess ourselves a little surprised-yes, astonished.

The Courier says: "What little character the rebellion has left us, we are very careful of. and don't intend to put In jeopardy by mixing with the Journal." In reply to this discourtoous language, we have only to say that the Courier is welcome, for all we care, to husband the "little character" as carefully as it can. We want no more mining with the Courier than it wants with us. It was for the rebellion we were against it. The Courier seems to be still f r the rebellion; we are still against it. The is restored; we are glad. We ask whether it or we should be regarded as having expressed the sentiments of the people of Kentucky? For our own part, we think the time has passed when secession or rebellion sentiments opinions should be expressed in Kentucky or in any other State of the old Union.

our neighbor (and we must add friend) of t e Courier insists, that, in the great controversy of 1861 and 1862, he was right and we PRATHER & SMITH'S were wrong, if he contends that the rebellion was righteous, and that we who opposed it were criminal or misguided, if he means that the mighty arbitrament which the terrible war has rendered is all faise, and that he regards himself as owing no actual allegiance or suppert to his country (the only country he has or ever had), we think that the State and the nation should understand his position, and that he himself should declare it with precision. All who have taken the oath of amnesty have made oath to recognize the proclamation of the President abolishing slavery, repudiating the rebellion, and upholding the Government of the

THE WRONG WAY .- We receive a bebdome fal from Boeton, the hub, called The Right Way. Though there is occasionally something good in it, the paper is nevertheless a misnomer. should be called The Wrong Way. It thinks there no safety for the Republic but in negro suf frage. Read the following terrific sentences:

Are we, with eye open, and against the most thrilling appeals, to plunge into an shyss of culls and shame,—a deep beneath which none lower opens? If Andrew Johnson has made up this mind to take the leap, regardless alike of Lie threats and his promises, which God forbid-chall congress, shall the people, follow him? Shall we write a page of history which our children, even to the latest generation, can never read without a binch of chame? Shall our own, and all coming ages, brand us for the treachery of survisions our faithful friends to our and their chemics. Shall our to the repeated with the peet's econfull words be repeated with the poet's econful words be repeated with change of name?—

"The nation's faith! The nation's trust!
Write the charecters in dust,
Stamp them on the running stream.
Print them on the moon's pale beam;

We know, and those late in arms against know full well, what this faithlessness portends for ourselves and for the conntry, as well as for the poor victims at the South. History may parallel the guild, but it cannot parallel the folly, of such a course. God in his memory have to from a further reservity and seven those it. Say, Mister, weren't you a John Brown man? Didu't you wish he had succeeded when he went to Harper's Ferry on an errand of murder? And further, have you the least idea of what you are talking about?

It is incumbent upon our present Legisature to elect a United States Senator to till the vacancy to occur March 4, 1867, by the expiration of the term of Hon. Garrett Davis. As a matter of course, it is highly important to the denity and welfare of Kentucky that the vaatility. In the election, our representative should bear in mind the imperishable fame of Cay and Crittenden, whose great names have given to the State so much power among the Commonwealths of the Union. There are men iu Kentucky who are admirably fit for the exalted position. Hon. Joshua F. Bell, Major General Ronsseau, Hon. Madison Johnson, Hon. Thomas E. Bramlette, Hon. Geo. H. Yeaman, Hon. Alfred Aller Ex-Gov. Robinson, and Major-G n. Tom Crittender, are well worthy of the piace, and we should be highly grat fied at the election of any one of them. Some of the distinguished gentlemen we have designated have differed from us on the Amendment, but that is a dead issue of the past, and we now attach no importance to the honest differences predicated upon it among real Union men.

President Johnson's whole policy town d the Southern States was briefly yet clearly expressed by him in his memorable letter to Provisional Governor Sharkey, of Mississipi, last fall, when he said: "The people must be trusted Wholesale or Retail, with their Government, and, if trusted, n opinion is that they will act in good faith, and restore their former Constitutional relations with all the States composing the Union. President Johnson has faith in the integriy of the masses of the South, and is willing to ac-FOREIGN CLOTHS.CASSIMERES. orpt their pledges of fidelity to the Union. Thus does he recognize the primary principle of the Government as formed by our father and upon those principles alone can our re; ub The Largest in the City. lican institutions be maintained. The recent war has impressed the whole country with a leson of enduring value, and, guided by it, we believe the people of the South can be and shou be trusted as implicitly as any other portion of the Union. Such is the sentiment upon which President Johnson's Southern policy is based. and it comports with the highest wisdom and patriotism.

Hon. William A. Graham, one of the newly elected Senators from North Carolina, was formerly one of the most prominent pub-Lie men in the ration. In 1 1 he was chosen to the United States Senate from North Carolina, his native State, and served three years. He was Governor of his State from 1844 to 1849. Congress. Hessys:

Since the meeting of Congress, for public reasons satisfactory to myself, I have urged the admission of the entire delegation from Tenuesee, sirhongh some of the applicants from that State were not elected; were not the choice of the legal voters of the districts they claim to represent, but were in fact appointed by Brownlow and the agency of negro beyonets, the outrage being sanctioned only by his petty associates and a few renegade rebels who have discussed every cause they have soonsed. Some traced every cause they have esponsed. Somether applicants, however, from that State are he choice of their constituents, and, therefore to represent them. They are elected despit he efforts of Brownlow and the military straps who aided him, and if admitted to the ats, will do henor to the people by whom the ere chosen. At this time, however, I woul-ladly see them all inducted into office, thereb ding, I trust, forever the complicated, ca iting, and dengerous question. The opinion ere expressed I have frankly avowed to all who have asked my views. He thus avows his co-operation with the

COTTON CROP OF 1866-A SOUTHERN VIEW THE SUBJECT .- The Macon (Georgia) Tele graph takes the following view of the prospect f the Cotton Crop for this year: A number of writers have essaved to so iale on the probable crop of cotton for the resent year, and some appear to have already arrived at conclusions satisfactory to their judgment. It is agreed by certain wise heads that it will amount to half the erop of 1861, if no more. How they arrive at the conclusion, the lata on which they reason, we are at a loss of termine. Did we have and express any opinion cetermine. Did we have and express any opin ion at all, we should say this estimate over reaches the probable reality. But the premise for all reasoning on the subject are not yet laidown, or even in existence, beyond the simple fact that cotton is high, and planters will have an inducement to grow it. Nobody yet know say thing about the labor question; it is still in the clands and year, black clands. an inducement to grow it. Accord yet knows anything about the labor question; it is still in the chouds, and very black chouds at that. It is not known, with anything approaching to accuracy, what proportion of the hands formerly employed in the production of cotton will consent to esture to it the preduction of cotton will consent to esture to it the preduction of cotton will consent to esture to it the preduction there is no telling how many will stick to it and how long. Again, there are thousands of panters who would willingly engage in the business, but have not the means to pay for labor, returnish exhausted materials, and support their plantations until a crop can be made. Seed are scarce and in many sections cannot be had except at a distance and at great expense. A very large proportion of the plantations are either a waste or sadly out of repair, and much time and labor will be required to rebuild and set things to rights. The uncertainty of labor cunnerbalances in part the incentive of high prices, as the planter will look to his crop of provisions in preference to all others. All these bodies remain to be settled, and we regard it as the height of folly to venture on prophecies at these to the control of more than 1,200,000 better.

are all against a crop of more than 1,200,00 A Mystery at Critetal Springs, Miss. Everything should be as clear as crystal at these springs, but it seems not from the following statement we find in the Copiahan:

For some years past there lived in Crystal Springs and neighborhood a negro man, who worked in the occupation of a painter in the town, and around the country generally, wherever his services were in demand. He was known and trusted of many people, and no one for a moment doubted the genuineness of his title to the manhood proclaimed by his robust appearance and general deportment. A tew nights ago, however, he became very ill, sent for a doctor, and, to the astorishment of the natives, gave birth to a child: Crystal Springs, we know, is a wonderful place, and vast improvements are making there, but if her freedmen are going to cut up this way generally, the men are going to cut up this way generally, the matter should be looked into.

TAXATION .- At a meeting of the Socia Science Association, held at Edinburg, in October, 1863, John Noble thus spoke on the subject of taxation. We commend his remarks to the attention of our National and State legislators:
The great object should be so to frame taxation as to prevent, as far as possible, its luter-ference with the growth of national riches and individual comfort. A nation's wealth is the fund out of which taxation must be paid. Nations, like individuals, thrive by exchange of services. Taxes restricting that exchange impoverish a nation just in proportion to the extent of the restriction, and so render it less able than it would otherwise be to support taxation. Since production was dependent on consumption, whatever lessens the one, diminishes the other; and, therefore, taxes on commodities impair the functions and purposes of extence, individual and national. In its action and effects, incirect taxation is unequal, impetitic, extravagant, sinfully unwise, and unfailingly demoralizing. attention of our National and State legislators:

failingly demoralizing. PROTECTION ON WOCL -The Wool Growers Wednesday morning, adopted the following resolution:

Risolard, That we pelition Congress to pass such laws as will probiolit the introduction of wool free of cluv, and will impose such amount of duty on foreign wool as shall counterbalance our own direct and indirect taxes, and afford us such protection against foreign wool as will encourage and develop the business of growing domestic wool.

AN UNCOVERNABLE BOY-HEAVY DAMAGES. The jury in the Brooklyn City Court has re-uri ed a verdict of $11.000 in favor of Elwin Whittee, proprietor of a boys bourding-school in Connectivit. Same time sluce a lad of nine cars of age was sent to the school with a view to the improvement of his temper, which, it

org there before he set fire to the establish meit, causing damage to the amount of $12,000. As the boy had $50,000 coming to him in his own right, when of age, Whitney sued the estate and got damages as above stated.

MILITARY AFFAIRS .- Major-General Jeff C. Davis, by virtue of his rank, is in command of the Department of Kentneky during the absence of Major-General John M. Palmer. The business of this military department is chiefly of a routine character, and seldom affords a newspaper item. Mosers. Woods and Peters, the conrecon clerks at General Palmer's headquarters, have our thanks for kind attentions. Circular No. 2, from the War Department January 10th, 1866, directs Major General Meade, commanding the Military Division of the Atlantic, to muster out all volunteers in the Department of the East and Department of Varginia; to reduce the number in the Middle Dement to fifteen hundred; and to muster out one white regiment in North Carolina. Mai 1 General Thomas, commanding the Military Division of the Tennessee, is directed to muster out all troops in his Division whose terms of service expire in February, 1866, and to reduce the force in the Department of Tennessee to JUNEASON CIRCUIT COURT-HON. C. W. four thousand men. Major-General Sherman command ng the Military Division of the Gulf directed to reduce, if practicable, the force of white treons in his Division to ten thousand and the force of black troops to ten thousand.

In case of the public interest not warranting the reduction, the figures indicated to be approached as rearly as possible.

By command of Lieutenant-General G ant. General Orders No. 3, designed to protect loyal persons against improper civil snits and penal tics in late rebellions States, has been promulgated. Military division and department commanders, whose commands embrace, or are composed of any of the late rebellions States and who have not already done so, will at once issue and enforce orders protecting from prosecution or snits in the State or municipal courts of such States all officers and soldiers of the armies of the United States, and all persons thereto attached, or in any wise thereto belorging, subject to military authority, charged with offenses for acts cone in hel military capacity, or nursuant to ordere from proper military authority; and to protec from suit" or presedution all local t zers, or persone, charged with offenses done against the rebel forces, directly or indirectly, luring the existence of the rebellion; and all persons, their agents or employers, charged with the occupancy of abandoned lands or lantations, or the possession or custody of any Find of property whatever, who occupied, used, controlled the same, pursuant to the order of the President, or sny of the civil tary departments of the Government.

These books are admirable I b icati us, handsomely bound, from the publiching-house of Lever & Francis, Cambridge.

FAIR AT THE COURT HOUSE -This colertainment brought together last evening one of the largest gatherings of ladies and gentlemen that we have ever seen assembled on a similar occa-sion. All appeared to be well pleased, and what is of equal importance, generous to a fault. To-night the fair will be continued when, we trust, as upon the remaing evenings up to its close, the hall will present as pleasant an appearance and as interested and liberal a concourse of visitors as it did last evening. Ar An application is to made to our State Legislature for a charter of a Loan Association by which capital will be furnished to Southern planters for the cultivation of cotton, &c. beartily commend the claims of the Association to the consideration of the Legislature. The object of the Association is one in which the whole South is greatly interested, and we hope every where.

the desired charter will be granted. SIERING OF A COAL BANGE.-The LOW-boot Sam Merwin, while en route to this city from Pittsburg, on Monday last, had the misfortune to sink one barge of coal and ground another at one of the numerous cand bars between this port and Cincinnati. The value of the coal thus lost was about five thousand collars. B th the steamer and coal were owned by Olms.ead & Conner, of this city.

THEATERS.-Those hav' g a taste for the leitimate drams never were afforded a rater chance of its gratification than at present. Mrs. Emma Waller at the Louisville and Mr. Edwin Adams at Wood's Theater are simply nurivaled their respective spheres. No one who appreiates histrionic culture of the highest order should neglect to see these great representatives of the tragic muse. We deprecate being una de, for the want of space, to speak more and lytically of the genius of these artistes. will be reproduced to night. The Hamlet of Mr. Edw'n Adams, as we confidently expected, drew a fine house last evening. It is seldem that an andience manifests so true an appreciation of merit as upon tais occasion. Mr. Adams imbues the character of the mad prince with so much freshness of address, and withal concelves the part so accusately, that we hazard nothing in pronouncing s Hamlet the best upon the American stage, with the single exception, probably, of Edwin Booth. Alice Nelson (f. w was found guilty of stealing a watch from Mrs. Wilson, and sentenced to two years' confinement in the penitentiary. The ludictment against James T. Sykes was dismissed. Warrant was awarded against William Jones. alias Kelley, and John Edwards, alias Kecley, who are charged with having played a confi dence game in this city a few days since. They were rearrested in the Ci y Court, and remand ed to jail. The Court adjourned until 1944

At leteral it Meeting of the Board of FALTIG.-There was a full attendance last n'all members being | resent tht five. The minitie on an ordinan e to make an approrelation for bealth purp c reported that the ame had been passed by both Boards of the General Conneil with some mudifications. Upn metion, the ordinance was read.

Dr. Goodman offered a resolution to the effect that the health offi er and his assistant, to be elec.ed, shall derote their whole time to the duties prescribed and to be perfo med by them, is per ordinance. A vote being taken on the resolution, the same was defeated. A motion reconsider the vote was carried, and the reslution was then laid on the table. Drs. Bell, Rogers, and Goodman were ap cointed a committee to draft a document dening the duties of the health officers to be are not presecuted or punished in the same elected before nominations are made and the election takes place. On motion of Dr. Ronaid the meeting adomined till next Tuesday evening.

BURGLARILS.-Night before last the burglar nmed their work in the city. They entered the music store of McCarrell & Meininger, on efferson street, between Third and Fourth, by disorderly, for which he was fined $15 and held ying open a back window shutter, and made henl of some fifty dollars Mr. Ellis's grecery store, on Tuird street, was broken into la same manner, and robbed of the sam of fteen dollars and a few goods. The saddlery abil hment of Mr. F"cr. on Jefferson, been Haueock and Cay streets, was also visit. and plundered of a number of sadd es and of Larness. Nothing seems to be known the raseals who committed these burglaries It that they bere off the spoils ennmerated. We call upon our policemen to increase their arce, of en their eves wider, and afford some dee ion to the people against such midnight reiore. It would be well for the merchant emselves to emply their money drawers at ight, and save house-breakers the trouble of deing so.

> Convictions by THE CIRC IT COURT -S) far, elaht de'endants have been found guilty in the Jefferson Circuit Court, and sentenced to terms of from one to five years in the penitentiery. This is an average of one con se t term, the parties being in the city prison and yon ball. Judge Johnston wal have to spnr up his jurors and attorneys in order to clear the xket. As a general thing, the indicted ones are "hard cases," and the law's delay should be disjersed will for the good of soci ty.

HOISE.

Mr Conklin, of N. J., offered a series of resolutions, declaring the condition on which the Santhein States shall resume their relations with the Federal Government. His purpose was to end them to the Committee on Reconstruction, but Mr. Fluk objected.

Mr. Penning, of Conn., reported back from the Military Committee the bill to revive the grade of General In the samy.

The Ilouse concurred in the Senate's resilution, authorizing the Committee on Reconstruction to send for persons and papers.

The consideration of the District of Columbia call are bill was resumed.

Mr. Brooks said the gentleman might give his private opinion as to now long a large porten of the people would be deprived of representation. Mr Julian, of Incluna, demanded suffrage for Mr Julian, of Indiana, demanded suffrage for colored men on the broad ground of natural right, and repudiated suffrage as a mere conventional form. Without suffrage no men is actually free. The great want of every poor man was a home, and the bullst and homesused should go together. There were 500,000,000 of acres of nacold lands in the South, which, naless prevented, will be open to robel speculators. The lands should be set apart for homesteals for both white and black men. If the bill herefore latroduced by him and yow before the tofore introduced by him and now belore the Committee on Public Lands should become a law, every frictian would become a freeholder. If it were rejected all negroes were to Ignorant He would reply that they were not all Igno-

nt. Many of them were educated and quite cellifent. The larger portlen of them not so half not suffer by comparison with many nite men, who institute mots against unofim and con mitted the diabolical deed. Such wante men, who institute mote against unof-furding colored people, and publish their deeds as negro insurrections, and yet nothing was done to distranchise them. He would give the negro the ballet to malutain the liberty already received. If the military were withdrawn from the South and the belief withheld from the black man, the meet disastrous codsequences might result. The conferring of suffrage was a means The conferring of snurage was a mean is safety of the whites in this district who sym-nathized with the rebellion. It would be mean to withhold the ballot of the loyal negroes. Mr. Randall, of Pennsylvania, replied to the coest speech of his colleague, Mr. Kelly, with reference to negro suffrage in Pennsylvania. He was ghad to say the Democrats had been against extending the right of suffrage to the negro ace, and this party had the aid of vast numbers it those who were politically eposed to them, is colleague proposed to make an issue here chad failed to make at home.

Mr. Kelly said, when he was quite a Mr. Kelly said, when he was quile a young an and acting with the Democratic party, he nited in a petition to the Lezislature to change onestitution so that every man in Pennsylvania tho was not a pauper or a felen should be a litzen in full.

It is estimated that nine-tenths of the truants hese articles admit. We limit ourselves, therefore, to a detailed history of the Normal School vstem are rather of a saving than of a reform Of 2 407 cases reported by one of the Traint tems of two States only-New Jersey and Pennsylvania. These States represent respeclively the two different systems of State Normal Officers of the city of Boston, for a period of ten years, only 367 cases were presented to the count, and 318 were sonteneed to the different reformatory Institutions of the city and the Schools in the United States in the purest types, and for this reason we have selected hem. We acknowledge, at the same time, with pleasure our Indebtedness to State Saper-

Schools in their respective States. New Jersey .- In 1839, a short time after the stablishment of the first Normal School ever organized in this country, at Lexington, Massachusetts, the Trustees of the New Jersey School Fund recommended the creation of a chool for teachers in the following impressive nguage: The erection of schools for the education of schers is a subject of great importance in con-cetion with a system of popular instruction, seems to be conceded upon all hands that at little progress is to be made in the work of duration, without seducation without as supply of good teachers. Yen may raise any amount of money for the purposes of education; you may multiply schools without number; you may furnish them with books, and fill them with scholars; but unless you go further and provide competent teachers you have legislated to but little purpose. Now there is nothing in which the public schools of New Jersey are so lamentably deficient as in well qualified teachers. This is a want that is universally felt and deplored. Not only are they represented as being incompetent by reason of their ignorance and incapacity, but in goue instances they are described as being notoriously immoral and habitually intemperate. That the ducation, the character, the destiny of the children of New Jersey, those who are to form our future state, should be committed to such bands, is a reflection well calculated to beget alarm. There seems to be but one way in which a supply of good teachers can be secured. They must be trained to the business of teach fire. They must be trained to the state the schools for the education of teachers. Let not New Jersey be slow to adopt an improvement so essential to the success of her school system. She has veniured upon the experiment of cincular the respite.

NORMAL SCHOOLS-NO. VII.

To review the history of the Normal Schools

This appeal, however, effected nothing. A more extensive and ultimately successful move 'Friends of Educatiou" were held in several erest in the subject of schools for teachers. The mot important and successful of these were held in Mount Holly. At the first meeting, on the 18th of November, 18t7, a committee was appointed to report on the subject of Normal Schools, and to draft appropriate resoitiens. The Convention reassembled on the 2d of December, listened to the Committee's deport, and adopted it without a dissenting voice. This report of the Committee was preared with so much care that we should do inusilee to the cause we are defending, were we refrain from giving a lengthy animary of it. The Committee open their report with a numer of communications from prominent public men, whose opinions they had solicited. The irst of these communications is from W. H

Seward. He writes: The advantages resulting from the profession al education of teachers in what are called Nor-man Schools are universally conceded aniong the f.lends of education in this (New York) State. If I had ever doubted on this subject, suite. It is not ever doubted on this subject, all my conbits would have been removed by the experiment of the institution in this State, which has been embrenity successful. The ultimate operation of Normal Schools will be to clevate the standard of public education, and of course the dignity of those to whom its labors are confided. The Rev. W. H. Campbell, D. D., at that time member of the Executive Committee of the New York State Normal School, remarks: in replying to your request, I may state that had doubts, when our Normal School was first tarted, as to the necessity of such an instit MAYE NEW, without Spectacles, Doctor, or Medicine, amplict marled free, Address E. By this I would not wish to be understood as declaring that all were incompetent, but I do mean that three-fourths of them were; and all of them needed that kind of instruction which a Normal School affords, and for the want of which they were far less efficient teachers than they now are.

" " " " " Et a person who is we incommitted with our academies visit the Normal School but one day, and my word for it he will grant that here is an institution affording imnesse facilities for the education of teachers—facilities which can be found in a Normal School abone—facilities of run greet value that any man must be birded by prejudice who would oppose their existence. The Right Rev. Alonzo Potter, the lamented ishop of Peunsylvania, and formerly Professor

It (the training of teachers) is, beyond doubt.

It (the training of teachers) is, beyond doubt, the most essential step in the great work of improving, and, as it were, regenerating our system of common school instruction. I had occasion for many years to observe closely the progress of this system in New York, and the result of my experience was that, though other measures were necessary and most important, yet that all of them would dipend very much finisher efficacy on the means which mylt be provided for the properties of technical section. See the capture of the most of the most of the section when the section of the means which mylt be provided for the properties of technical sections. See the section of the means when the section we will be and vigor seems to be indused into the schools throughout the whole State.

Undoubtedly we have had school-in term who are influent without the ald of Normal Schools: but with their ald we may hepe to have no teachers who are insufficient. The Hou. All other favoring influences are not equal to this one alone. If this can have an epportunity for a fair displiy of its efficiency, one might barter all other things for it, and still make a good bargain.

* * * * * Ten years ago we had no such teachers as we have uow (in Massichusett). The best we then had would now be considered mediocre oily. The rear ranks of the then teachers have now failane out of revice altegether. I think we may say, without vanily, that a reform of no considerable consequence has been effected in our schools. Normal Rebo Is have done more to produce this charge than all other instrumental ties united. Without them, I should feel not only as though both my arms were cut off * * * * * * It smrely must be nunsecessary with a gentleman of your intelligence to strengt to brove by a course of reasoning that those who are taught how to train it will have greater eneces in their work than the knood, but can happen that a uran shall need to ever an apprentice-hip to make a boot, but can instruct and train a child by instinct, is more it an I can comprehend.

It is only by making a regular pursuit of the tashness of education, and having institutions where it is expressly cultivated and taught, where improvements will be struck out, or promptly examined and adopted, when project from abroad and found to be real and substantial, that a highly respectable and efficient class of instructors can be found.

The Hon. Jon. A. Dix writes:

It is now nearly nine years sluce I have been connected with the common school system of New York. It was during the slx preceding teats under my official superintendence; and it was among the first objects of my execution to improve the education of teachers; for without empetent instructors, schools, however widely atended, are of very little use. School Report:

If asked here what course I would advise, I would answer:

As soon as it can be done under the same lion of law, I would have three or four Truam Officers appointed, whose duty it should be to visit the several schools of the city, as often as their other duties would permit, and therefore from the teachers the names and residences on those children between the ages of seven and sixten years, who are often truams from chool. Out of nearly 2 stip criminals confined in the State of New York duting a period of ten years, it was found tha less than 250 had ever been regular attendant upon any school.

Again, the cost of the system will be less to the city than the care of the criminals added to the list by its absence.

Still farther, the city owes a debt to those p or parents, who are necessarily away from tack in bomes during the entire day, and who cannot, for that reason, prevent or correct the trunn habits of their children. Each children feel sure of immunity in their truancy, because their parents cannot be found by the teacher when he seeks a reason for their absence. Many such parents have, during the past year, besought my aid is correcting the truancy of their children. Gladly as I would aid them my lack of time forbids any such work as a Truant Oilleer can alone well do.

I leave this subject with the hope that such measures will be adopted by the city as now fle within their power, and if further legislative action is needed, that early steps will be taken to secure it.
